Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Louis Hieb of Burlington, the state secretary, spent Sunday and Monday in town and spoke at the men's meeting Sunday afternoon upon the obedience to the heavenly vision—the pleasure of doing the day's work and the duty that was before one.

Monday evening about 40 members of the Association had a most enjoyable tea followed by some interesting but brief postprandial exercises. After the supper President F. H. Brooks tapped to order and stated that in the near future an effort would be made to increase the membership of the Association and he hoped all would be ready to cooperate in the movement. Secretary Adams then took the chair and called upon Secretary Hieb who spoke briefly of the work the Association is doing in Ceylon, and how the Vermont association were planning to raise $500 towards this work. He said that St. Johnsbury's allotment in this work would be $65 and he hoped the members would give to this cause when the opportunity came. The meeting closed with an impromptu address by Supt. C. F. Palmer which was full of helpful suggestions.

Following the supper A. S. Haskins brought in his lantern and Messrs. Hieb and Adams gave an illustrated lecture upon Ceylon with special reference to the Association work in that island. Many beautiful views were shown, and all who attended now have a much clearer conception of the beautiful scenery and wonderful buildings of that island.

Friday evening there was a largely attended reception to Secretary and Mrs. Adams. It was a delightfully informal affair and many ladies and gentlemen took advantage of the occasion to patronize the bowling alley and billiard room during the evening. A short but most enjoyable musical program was given.

Mrs. H. H. McIntire gave several violin solos in a highly artistic manner, her difficult accompaniments being well executed by Hugh Mackinnon. Mrs. Ida P. Brooks favored the audience with contralto solos which were greatly enjoyed.

J. Rolf Seales, Esq. gave the first of the series of talks on commercial law at the rooms last evening, speaking upon agencies, contracts and partnership.

Attention is again called to the conference of library people and educators, to be held at the Colleigh Public Library at Lyndonville, Thursday, January 28, from 11 to 5 o'clock. It is expected that the interests of librarians, trustees, teachers, supervisors and school directors will be presented on the program. The new law granting library aid to towns having a grand list of not over $10,000 will be explained. Every body responsible for or interested in libraries or schools is invited.

Travel Club. The Travel Club under the leadership of C. F. Palmer met at the Museum Saturday evening and visited Glasgow, Ayr, and the Scotch lakes. Slides and post cards were shown and a solo by Miss Edith M. Nichols and a duet by Miss Nichols and Mrs. Maude L. Eklof were enjoyed.

The meeting of the club will be omitted this week. The next meeting will be held Saturday evening, January 30, at half-past seven promptly. The places for the evening will be Edinburgh, Melrose, Abbotsford and the English Lake country; the persons, Mary Queen of Scots, John Knox and the Scotch Reformers, Sir Walter Scott, Southey, Wordsworth and Coleridge.

Red Men Installation. D. D. G. S., G. W. Pierce of Lyndonville, installed the officers of Algonquin Tribe, No. 9, Thursday evening.

Proprietor, M. Craig, Sachem, J. F. McCarty, Sen. Sagamore, G. Farr, Jun. Sagamore, M. Carr, C. of R., W. J. Crafton, C. of W., S. A. Moore, K. of W., A. S. Copp, 1st. Sannap, C. Hale, 2nd. Sannap, F. Lynch, G. of W., L. Page, G. of F., A. L.umas.

At Summerville.

Mrs. Ernest Blodgett of Swanton is visiting at C. A. Blodgett's.

Humphrey Fox is sick with grip. Frank L. Rice became much worse on Saturday and remains in a critical condition.

L. P. Leach is improving his residence by a new piazza and sun parlor. Mrs. Leach is improving and hopes to return home from the hospital in a few days.

The defeated side of the M. T. O. 500 Club gave the rest of the club a supper at the Avenue house Friday evening. After supper cards were played in the parlor, the first prizes being won by W. A. Astle and Mrs. Harry Hovey and the foot prizes by John S. Powers and Mrs. J. W. Simons. The next meeting will be held with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Astle, Jan. 29.
